PAST FEELING

It is extremely difficult for me to comprehend the indiscriminate killing of the unborn. None of the arguments of the pro-choice (pro-abortion) movement make sense. Choices present themselves all the time. A series of bad choices is behind every abortion. Abortion is the culmination of a whole host of bad choices. How could human beings possibly see abortion as anything but immoral?

My questions were answered some time ago when I saw one of the leaders of the National Organization of Women arguing that any guilt attached to abortion resulted from religious zealots foisting their views on impressionable young women. She went on to say that she had an abortion when she was fourteen and felt absolutely no guilt, no remorse, no regret. That's when it hit me. These folks are "past feeling." They have lost the tenderness of a mother's love. They are unmoved by the helpless plight of the innocent. The pro-choice crowd offers the unborn no choice and thus no chance, and they rejoice that they have this right! The unborn child has no rights.

LEGAL LUNACY

Too bad human babies don't hatch! Maybe then they would enjoy some legal protection! A panel of judges in Florida upheld a $108,800 fine against a man who poached 1088 turtle eggs from a state park. The public defender argued that an egg isn't a turtle until it hatches; but the prosecutor affirmed that 80-90% of marine turtle eggs are fertile, and therefore, each egg much be considered a unit of marine life. The judges agreed with the prosecutor!

The pro-abortion establishment claims that a "fetus" is not a human "person" until birth has occurred. Several years ago the highest court in the nation agreed, and declared any and all laws protecting the unborn (humans, that is) to be "unconstitutional."

Isn't it more than ironic that laws protecting unhatched marine turtles are perfectly alright, but laws protecting unborn human beings are unconstitutional? An unhatched turtle is a "unit of marine life," but an unborn human is just so much "tissue." Swipe a thousand turtle eggs and we'll fine you $100 each (not to mention sending you to jail for 60 days); kill a thousand unborn human children and we will reward you for your "work" with tax money and laud you as a champion of "reproductive freedom!" How utterly absurd!

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

Paul wrote to Christians: "This I say therefore, and affirm together with the Lord, that you walk no longer just as the Gentiles also walk, in the futility of their mind, being darkened in their understanding, excluded from the life of God, because of the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardness of their heart; and they, having become callous, have given themselves over to sensuality, for the practice of every kind of impurity with greediness" (Ephesians 4:17-19 NASB). In the King James Bible these folks are said to be "past feeling." They have lost all sense of compassion. They are devoid of natural love. They are selfish to the core!

The pro-abortion movement is incompatible with the Christian profession. Pro-abortion churches long ago sold out to Satan. Those who think they can maintain their Christian profession while at the same time defending a woman's right to chose are self-deluded. Abortion is sin! Sinners can be forgiven, but repentance is demanded. There can be no repentance where there is no recognition of wrong. Abortion is wrong. One has to be past feeling to defend it!
